Cyber Security

Niles Benghauser is an expert in cybersecurity solutions and the CEO of TekStop. He opened TekStop in 2017 with the goal of protecting our community and providing the best I.T. services available. Now he educates the community on keeping their organizations up and running, with technology as an asset.

Cybersecurity is an important piece to keeping your small business or nonprofit up and running. The threat of a cyber attack is increasing exponentially every year, and small businesses or nonprofit are primary targets. Join us for a discussion of the impact of cyber crime on your organization and what you can do to protect it.
